

Instructions for handling food

There are several legal restrictions and regulations that must be observed when handling food. We have put a list together of some of those regulations. Please note that this is not a comprehensive list and is not legally binding.

I. MANDATORY INFORMATION

Each package containing food must clearly display certain details required by law. This includes ingredients and nutritional information.

SAXOPRINT is responsible for providing this mandatory information.

II. TREATMENT OF NUTRITION AND HEALTH CLAIMS

Using nutrition or health claims or any misleading information is prohibited when designing your print template. Advertising based on nutritional or health details cannot be used as it might violate legal regulations such as the EU regulation 1924/2006 (Health Claims Regulation) and 432/2012 (list of permitted health claims made on foods, other than those referring to the reduction of disease risk and to children's development and health.)

Nutritional information that states, suggests or implies that there is a particular nutritional benefit like «low fat», «rich in vitamins», «light» or «energy rich» may not be used.

Health information that state, suggest or imply a connection between the food or its ingredients and health, for example «supports a healthy digestion» or «supports the growth of children» may not be used.

Misleading information used to deceive a food or its properties and may not be used.

III. YOUR ARTWORK

SAXOPRINT is legally required to provide product and manufacturer information. In the event of a breach of any other legal regulations, you hereby fully exempt us from any claims for compensation by third parties arising from the use of the food packaging thus printed.
